DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Hodko, U.S. Patent 6,203,682.

The Hodko patent discloses the additive injection system, used in in-situ soil remediation by electrokinetics for removing contaminants present in contaminated soil by applying electric power to an anode and a cathode to induce electroosmosis and electromigration in the soil wherein the anode and cathode are oppositely installed in the soil and the cathode is spaced apart from the anode by a fixed distance, comprising a cylindrical housing, an electrode selected from the anode and cathode and positioned in the cylindrical housing, a plurality of discharging slots formed in the cylindrical housing, a filter and a filler comprising the same type of materials claimed (see example 6 in col. 12, line 42 to col. 14, line 3). The reference further discloses that the filler particles have permeability lower than the soil (see example 6).

Therefore, since the Hodko patent discloses each and every structural limitation, the claims are clearly anticipated.
